Where is the East Wing of the Edmund Blacket Building?

The entrance to the East Wing of Edmund Blacket Building is located directly inside the large heritage gates on Avoca Street (shown on the map with an arrow).

How do I get to the Edmund Blacket Building from UNSW?

Exit Gate 9 – North/East End of the Campus - turn right on High Street. You will pass Botany Street, Eurimbla Avenue and Hospital Road. Then you pass the Sydney Children's Hospital and the Prince of Wales Hospital. At the traffic lights, turn right into Avoca Street and go in the main pedestrian gate (shown on the map with an arrow).

How do I get to the Edmund Blacket Building from the POW Hospital Car Park?

There is public parking available on the Prince of Wales campus accessed under the area in front of the Barker Street Entrance. You can enter the car park from Hospital Road or Barker Street (indicated on the map). All parking is managed by Metro Parking located on Level B1 of the main car park.

Take the lift to the street level and head past Emergency. Continue to Nurses Drive, turn left and go all the way to the electrical sub-station (indicated on the map as 11). Turn right and enter the South Wing up the steps. Please cut through the EBB courtyard and go through the doors on your right to make your way to the heritage gates on Avoca Street.

Alternatively, go in through the Main Entrance on the street level, to the left is Information, ask there for directions on how to get to East Wing, Edmund Blacket Building for access through the hospital. There is also limited timed parking on the streets around the hospital.

Where can I catch a taxi?

There are taxi phones in the foyer of The Prince of Wales Hospital, Royal Hospital for Women and Sydney Children's Hospital and the adult Emergency Department. The taxi rank is located just outside The Prince of Wales Hospital entrance on High Street as well as the Forecourt, Barker Street entrance. Alternatively, taxis may be caught from Avoca St/Belmore Road and High Street.
